Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☐ Responsive to communication(s) filed on ____.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.

DETAILED ACTION

This action is Non-final.

Claims 1-21 are pending.

The IDS submitted November 13th, 2003.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Link (US 6,672,963).

[Claims 1, 8, 14] Link teaches a software emulator for emulating a handheld video game platform on a variety of secondary platforms including a personal digital assistant (Abstract & Figure 1D).

[Claim 2] Link teaches a system including: computer having hardware (Figure 1), an operating system, and input/output devices (Elements 554-64);
a game storage unit for storing the game software (Elements 52, 66); and a compatibility layer to interface between said computer and the input/output interface of the games (Element 100).

Art Unit: 3713

[Claims 3, 9] Link teaches a compatibility layer including an input mapper (Elements 104, 54) and an operating system emulator (Col 6:38-60).

[Claims 4-7, 10-13, 15-18] Link teaches an input mapper comprising a converter to convert between input keys and the expected inputs of a current game wherein the conversion further incorporates a unit or equivalently register per input device emulated, a request unit for interrogating the register based the current game requests (Col 6:61-7:2 & Col 9:30-35). Finally as the gaming device of Link emulates a specific model gaming device such as GAME BOY®, GAME BOY COLOR®, and/or GAME BOY ADVANCED® the input mapper selects the input device and input device type to emulate based on the output of a request unit or equivalently the loading of compatibility information (Figure 18 & Col 12:36-57). Claim language directed to the conversion of at least one unit per input device is correlated to Links description of a keypad emulation (Col 19:31-59 & Col 6:61-7:2) including the described remapping of inputs and hence any unit associated with said inputs (i.e. button activation) contained therein.

[Claims 19-21] In addition to the above Link teaches the downloading (receiving) of a game designed for a different machine (Col 6:23-37), in addition to determining the current expected game interfaces, correlating/convert the expected game interfaces with the present hardware interfaces, and executing the game (Col 6:8-7:2).
